Mr. Roy Alton Gone to Edson

Mr. Roy Alton, who has been connected with Stony Plain Hardware for several years, has severed his connection with the firm, and has opened a general hardware store at the town of Edson. While here, Roy was a very popular young business man, and had a host of friends. He took quite an interest in all out-door sports and had quite a few athletic achievements to his credit. Mr. Alton was a charter member of the local lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, and held an important office in this organisation. He carries to his new sphere of usefulness the best wishes of all who know him. Mr. A. E. Michael is continuing the business of the Stony Plain Hardware, as formerly.

Funeral of Old-timer.

Old residents in this district heard with regret the news of the death in Edmonton, last week, of an old-timer in the person of John V. MacGillyendy, in his 82nd year. "Mac," as he was familiarly known in the ten years he was stationed in Stony as an officer of the R.N.W.M.P., had a host of friends, and was a very popular officer while here. He received his appointment here in 1907, and remained in Stony until the organisation of the A. P. Police in 1917, when he received another appointment. He leaves a wife, 3 sons and 3 daughters. Several of the younger members of the family were born in Stony. The funeral was held Friday afternoon, the service being conducted by Capt. the Rev. G. G. Reynolds, and interment took place in the Edmonton cemetery.

A "Surprise" to Mr. & Mrs. Peter Baron.

A Surprise party was held Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Baron, when a number of friends visited them, to give them a send off. Refreshments were served. Among those present were: Mr. & Mrs. Joe Lutz, Mr. & Mrs. Seisman, Mr. & Mrs. A. Kotscherofsky, Mr. & Mrs. Geo. Gobel, Mr. & Mrs. Hy K. Baron, Mr. & Mrs. Geo. Kulak, Mr. & Mrs. J. J. Kulak, Mr. & Mrs. Hy Schneider, Mr. & Mrs. Philip E. Kulak, Mr. & Mrs. Rudolf Goers, Mr. & Mrs. Bernard Miller, Mr. & Mrs. P. Alheim, Jac. Alheim.

United Church Notes.

Last Sunday the pastor spoke on the question "Why Be a Christian?" There was a good attendance at all points. At Stony Plain the choir rendered a very beautiful anthem "Who are these arrayed in white?" Practice was held after service with an enlarged choir, in preparation for Easter services.

Next Sunday Rev. C. H. Reppert is to preach at the evening service in Stony Plain.

Children Cry for it

Children hate to take medicine as a rule, but every child loves the taste of Castoria. And this pure vegetable preparation is just as good as it tastes: just as bland and harmless as the recipe reads. (The wrapper tells you just what Castoria contains.)

When Baby's cry warns of colic, a few drops of Castoria has him soothed, asleep again in a jiffy. Nothing is more valuable in diarrhoea. When constipation or flatulence, when the tongue is coated and breath tell of constipation, invoke its gentle aid to cleanse and regulate a child's bowels. In colds or children's diseases, use it to keep the system from clogging. Your doctor will tell you Castoria deserves a place in the family medicine cabinet until your child is grown. He knows it is safe for the tiniest baby; effective for a boy in his teens. With this special children's remedy handy, you need never risk giving a boy or girl medicine meant for grown-ups. Castoria is sold in every drug store; the genuine always bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature.

What Do You Get Out Of Life?

Among the many publications which come regularly to the writer's desk is a little monthly magazine called "The Valve World," published as the house organ of a great manufacturing company having offices, branches, warehouses and factories all over the world, including every Canadian Province, except Prince Edward Island. One of the regular departments in this magazine is headed "From an Old Fogey's Ingleknot," and consists of informal, personal chats of a most interesting, informative, and inspirational character. They are thought-provoking, while at the same time bringing comfort to the reader. They are a spur to one's ambition, a ray of sunshine on a gloomy day, an incentive to be up and doing, and to endeavor to find and appreciate true values in life.

Thoroughly enjoying "Old Fogey" as we do, we are this week passing on through the medium of this column one of the "gems" appearing in a recent issue. We quote it in full as it appeared under the heading, "One Recipe For Happiness."

A short story I was reading recently pictured a woman who had just lost her husband through an accident. One of her condoling friends said: "How sad he had to go so soon." To which the widow replied: "I am thankful for having had him so long."

I can see in this one recipe for happiness; one way toward the possession of a tranquil and grateful soul. Instead of letting sadness over the bereavement depress her, because it had come so soon, she was thankful because it had been delayed so long. She could find that life had been better to her than it might have been, and that gratefulness for this was much better than sadness over the reflection that it might have given her more.

Life brings us much or little, largely as we take it. We get much or little out of life chiefly through our point of view as to what is much and what is little. It may seem little to us that we awakened this morning ready for another day of activity, or it may seem much that another day with its possibilities is before us. It is quite within ourselves to say "Another day in which anything may happen: another day of opportunity; another day to be alive and useful and helpful, and to do a bit more climbing; another day to grow in gentleness, to add to knowledge, to spread cheerfulness, to develop character, to stretch out the helping hand, to hold up the valiant head, to lengthen the forward stride. Another day to hope and to love and to add to our store of happiness."

It's all in the point of view. How infinitely better it is to be thankful that life has been given us and is giving us so much, than to be sad because we cannot have more. To say: "Good night, friend, I am glad to have had you so long," rather than: "I am sorry you have to go so soon."

It was the writer's first intention to offer some comment of his own on the above, but we refrain. It is complete in itself. We, therefore, merely say to you: Read it again; clip it out for future reading on some day when you are inclined to feel that life is hard, or monotonous, and unsatisfying, and yielding you so little. Remember it is chiefly your own point of view of what is much and what is little. You can make it much if you will.

If the world is a stage, the majority of people are merely scene-shifters.

Britain's Playgrounds

Many Of World's Largest Parks Are Within the Empire

Within the confines of the British Empire are some of the biggest playgrounds in the world. Canada heads the list with no fewer than eight national parks, embracing an area of over 12,000 square miles, mostly situated in the Rocky Mountains amongst scenes of grandeur and beauty unsurpassed anywhere in the world. Jasper Park, in Northern Alberta, with an area of 4,517 square miles—two-thirds as big as Wales—is the largest of them. National playgrounds on a grand scale also constitute a feature in New Zealand. The two largest are the Tongariro National Park in the middle of the North Island, and the Fiordland National Park in the South Island. Fiordland Park, besides being one of the two biggest in the world, incloses within its borders sounds, lakes, rivers, waterfalls, and mountain scenery of remarkable beauty and grandeur. One outstanding feature is "The World's Wonder Walk," winding through a series of stupendous canyons and majestic gorges from Lake Te Anau to Milford Sound.

WAS WEAK AND PALE

Health Restored Through the Use Of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Mrs. Leo, Bedford, Quebec City, tells how her health and strength were restored through the use of that great blood-building tonic, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mrs. Bedford says: "Some three years ago, after the birth of my little boy, I was left very weak and pale. I did not seem to have any strength, and at times I was so dizzy I would nearly fall down. A friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I did so. In a few weeks I was surprised to notice the difference in my condition—I felt like a new woman. I continued taking the pills until I had used ten boxes, by which time I had completely regained my former health and strength. I feel that I cannot praise too highly Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for what they have done for me."

To the woman in the home—the household duties—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a positive blessing. So if you are weak and pale, and your health will improve and your strength return. The pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Requires Master Craftsmen

Mosaic Workers In Rome Are Skilled In Art

The Vatican mosaic works, one of the most unusual manufacturing plants in the world, are ready to consign to the Roman Catholic University, at Washington, D.C., their latest production, a copy of Murillo's "Immaculate Conception," valued at $25,000.

Few tourists making the rounds of the Vatican galleries and St. Peter's, know of the existence of the mosaic. Yet, the shop is one of the oldest in Rome, and one of the best known in the art groups of Europe.

A visit to the plant is an education. Here one sees master craftsmen whose skill has been passed on to them through generations of fathers and grandfathers who were artists in mosaic before them. They are men of infinite patience, in addition to their skill, for a mosaic may take from two to ten years to complete.

A few statistics help to explain the reason. When the visitor is told that there are actually 57,000 different colors or shades of color from which the mosaicists must choose, and also when he is told that thousands of small pieces of material, first heated to an intense degree, are later inserted one by one into special form, each one being chosen meticulously for its shade of color, he will begin to understand why. One mosaic has been known to require twenty years for completion.

Undertaking On Ambitious Scale Is Being Planned

A new British Antarctic expedition, the London Daily Herald says, is being organized under the leadership of Commander Frank Worley, who was skipper of the "Endurance" in Shackleton's South Pole expedition.

The paper said the expedition was to be on an ambitious scale and must include aeroplanes. It will cost in the neighborhood of £25,000 ($125,000) and will be both commercial and scientific in purpose.

Value of Canada's Dairy Products Now Closely Approximates the Value of Our Mineral Production

In a comprehensive report for the year 1928, on dairy factories in Canada, just issued by the Canadian Government Bureau of Statistics, some interesting information on the dairy industry is given. The value of all dairy products for the year reviewed is estimated at $297,025,347, of which creamery butter accounted for $64,702,538; dairy butter, $29,103,000; factory cheese, $30,494,463; home-made cheese, $82,000; miscellaneous dairy factory products, $20,551,480; and milk, 636,117,568 gallons, valued at $152,661,856. The report states that the per capita consumption of butter in Canada is 29.06 pounds, said to be the highest in the world.

The value of Canada's dairy products in 1928 was only about $10,000,000 less than the total value of the mineral production of the Dominion last year.

The dairying industry in Canada dates from 1608, when Samuel de Champlain, the famous French explorer, whose name is prominently identified with the earlier history of Canada, brought a small number of cattle from France to the colony of Quebec. Cattle were introduced to Acadia, now Nova Scotia, in 1632. The first exports of Canadian dairy products to the United States dates from 1801. The first Canadian cheese factory was established in Ontario in 1864, and the first creamery in Canada for butter making was opened in Quebec in 1873. There are now 2,833 dairy factories in operation in Canada of which 1,216 are creameries, 1,301 cheese factories, 287 combined butter and cheese factories and 29 condenseries. The number of farmers who supply milk and cream to these factories totals over 286,000.

Testing Out New Flower Varieties For Garden Plot

Have you a trial garden plot in your garden, a little space reserved for the testing of floral newcomers and novelties? You are missing some of the fun of growing flowers if you haven't. It is said that novelty is the spice of life and the flower world is full of novelties.

Every year brings its new introduction in floriculture. They are featured in the seed catalogues and in the magazine advertisements. Some of these novelties may be worthy of more or less permanent places in your garden; others may not be. The best way to learn which have merit and which have not is to test a few each year. The cost will not be prohibitive and you will be well repaid the expense in the amount of enjoyment you will gain. Go over the lists of new things and select three or four that particularly appeal to you and buy small packages of seeds from reliable firms.

Plant the seeds in a space in your garden specially reserved and prepared for such purposes and follow cultural directions carefully. In other words: Give the novelties a fair trial. Your interest in your trial plot will grow with the plants and you will await, with no little impatience, for the first blooms to appear.

Not Much For Surplus

Railway-Earned Dollar Has To Be Split Many Ways

A typical railway-earned dollar must be split many ways before the numerous demands upon it are satisfied, a recent analysis of the average "dollar" earned by Frisco lines during 1928 reveals. Forty-three and a fraction cents out of the dollar goes for labor, almost 6 cents for fuel, more than 14 cents for material and supplies, 5.65 cents for taxes and 13.61 for interest, while rentals, personal injuries, loss, damage and depreciation take another 7 cents. After that terrific onslaught on the dollar, 10.98 cents are left for dividends and surplus.

The jacket dress is one of the most important ideas for Spring.

The model illustrated is one of the best I've seen.

It will serve for sports, spectator sports, or afternoons, according to the fabric selected.

It is charmingly flattering in black silk crepe. The long-waisted bodice of the attractive dress has an inset at front of eggshell shade crepe accented by black bows and piping. The eggshell crepe also lines the jacket and appears in collar and rever facing. The dress may be made with or without sleeves.

For sports and street, it is very conservative in trend of lightweight in brown and white coloring. In rather an indefinite diagonal weave. The inset of dress of harmonizing brown plain woolen is repeated in jacket lining and facing.

For Spring, printed silk crepe in new dark green tones with plain green crepe, independence blue silk crepe with eggshell red and white chiffon and purple wool jersey with orchid faille crepe are stunning selections.

Insect War Resumes

Entomologists Using Means To Combat Swarms of Insects

A mighty army of mites wages ceaseless warfare on all forms of plant life and just as ceaseless is the warfare waged by skilled entomologists to protect and preserve farm, field and garden crops. Experts of the Dominion Department of Agriculture have already planned intensive campaigns against field crop pests for 1930, including grasshoppers, the wheat stem sawfly, wireworms, the pest western cutworm and his ally the red-backed cutworm, the bertha armyworm, the early cutworm, the Colorado potato beetle, the imported cabbage butterfly, and the root maggot.

They also have a watching brief against the forest pests, including the aphids on maple, willow and elm, the spruce spider mite, the forest tent caterpillar and the box elder leaf roller and twig borer.

The Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture have much interesting information in bulletin form dealing with these and other insect pests.

Real Mummified Wheat.

Professor Says Seed Which Sprouts Is Not Genuine

Professor Melchers, botanist of Kansas State Agricultural College, who spent two years in the Nile Valley investigating plant diseases at the invitation of the Egyptian Ministry of Agriculture, has in his possession what he is positive is genuine mummified wheat. It was taken from the pyramids and is believed to be 5,000 years old.

The professor said supposedly mummified wheat which has sprouted is not genuine but is a fake seed which has been colored and made to appear as mummified grain and then sold to tourists.

The ancient wheat in his possession has the shape of the ordinary kernel but is red in color, due to oxidation during the centuries it lay in the pyramid of Sakhara. Under slight pressure the grain turns to red dust.

When To Plant

Best Time To Plant Vegetable Garden Having Regard To Classification Of Seed

The perennial problem of when is the best time to plant garden crops has again come around. An interesting and useful guide in this direction is furnished by the Central Experimental Farm of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Flower can be set out quite early, but "The safest guide as to the proper time to plant vegetables is first of all to divide the various crops into groups. The first group comprises those that are considered hardy or able to withstand very cool conditions; those that are semi-hardy and must be planted when conditions are more favourable; and lastly those that are very tender, requiring warm, moist soil and ideal seasonal conditions for their proper and normal development."

"Those that fall in the hardy group are onions, smooth and wrinkled peas, spinach, radish and turnip. The average date of early planting of seed of these hardy crops in the division of horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, has been found to be the first week in May."

"In the second or semi-hardy crops we find cabbage, cauliflower, beet, carrot, lettuce, parsnip, and wrinkled peas. The plants of cabbage and cauliflower can be set out quite early, but they must be well hardened off so that they will withstand quite low temperature."

"The third group which includes beans, celery, corn, cucumber, melon, pumpkin, squash and tomato should not be planted until settled warm conditions have arrived. The soil must be warm and moist thus giving quick uniform growth. The best time for planting these crops is from the end of the third week in May until about June 10."

Record of Performance

Report Of Record Of Performance For Pure-Bred Dairy Cattle For Past Three Years

Dairymen throughout Canada will be particularly interested in the twenty-first report of the Canadian Record Of Performance For Pure-Bred Dairy Cattle, covering the years 1927, 1928 and 1929, issued by the live stock branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

The report contains a detailed record of every animal whose record was such as to merit being placed on the honour roll up to November, 1929. Individual records are listed by class groups and are readily available to the individual through an index to owners.

Complete details as to standards and registration by classes and rules and regulations are included in the report.

Made Him Too Good

Jimmy, the little boy next door to us, was sitting on our front porch looking very lonesome.

"Where's your little playmate Billie?" I enquired.

"Aw, he got a spankin' this morning and he's always so good for a while after that I have to play by myself," was the disgusted reply.

Just a few days ago, the Canadian House of Commons did a remarkable thing. Without division it approved a motion requesting the Government to consider subsidizing "County Health Units," in order that the health of rural Canada might be given better protection.

The gigantic scope of such a project at first eludes one, as does the great significance of the fact that by approving the motion without division, the House put the question of national health where it belongs—out of the field of party politics.

This is extremely fortunate, for it enables every Canadian citizen to discuss, and to give his approval without rancour or considerations of party affiliations to what is probably the greatest piece of health-legislation ever contemplated in the history of the world!

For the County Health Unit scheme, when it is in working order throughout the Dominion, as it is bound to be eventually, and as it already is in parts of Quebec, Saskatchewan and British Columbia, will save more Canadian lives, and more Canadian dollars than the majority of us realize are now being wasted. For there is no doubt that future generations will look back upon our present-day rural health management with horror, as being little short of criminally negligent.

At the beginning of this century, the country was a healthier place to live in than the city. In fact, most of our readers will probably be surprised to learn that it is so no longer. Actually official statistics prove that the farmer has much less chance of long life and health than his city cousins, and the reason is simply that the city man's health is looked after scientifically, by modern, up-to-date public health departments, while the farmer, and the small-town dweller do not share in this advantage, because it costs a great deal of money, and the country and the small town cannot afford it.

The County Health Unit Plan, providing as it does, for Federal and Provincial payment of a subsidy of two-thirds of the cost of each County Health Unit, the municipality served paying the third, recognizes and acts upon the fact that health is a national asset, and that rural lives are as valuable to Canada as urban ones.

Surely this is eminently sound on practical, as well as humanitarian grounds. Everyone, regardless of political affiliations, agrees that Canada, supporting social machinery capable of serving more than double her present population, needs people more than anything else in the world. We seek and are willing to pay for immigrants of the right kind. Yet every year we lose rural Canada, native Canadians by the thousands, years ahead of their time, through diseases which could be entirely eliminated, for example, diphtheria and typhoid, both of which are preventable and could be wiped out within a generation, and through tuberculosis, heart disease, complaints peculiar to infants and their mothers, scarlet fever, cancer, despite the fact that proper measures of public health can save and in some centres are annually saving many lives from all of them.

Quebec has attacked this problem. She has 17 rural health units in operation, and expects soon to have eight more. Consider what happened in Beauce County, Quebec, following the organization of such a unit in 1925.

During 1926 there were 643 deaths in the district from general causes. In 1928 this figure dropped 156 to 487. Similarly, in 1928 deaths were reduced from 213 to 160; deaths from tuberculosis from 56 to 31, and deaths from contagious disease, from 86 to 27. Statistics, indicating the reduction of disease generally are not yet available; but a study of the death-rate makes logical the assumption that this too, must have been comparatively important.

A SIMPLE TREATMENT FOR CHILDREN'S COLDS

Cold in the head is very common at this time of the year, especially in the young. Neglect of a cold is prone to lead to serious consequences. To relieve all congestion of the system is the first step in treating a cold, whether in infants or adults. For the very young, Baby's Own Tablets are the ideal means of doing this. Containing no narcotics or other harmful drugs they soothe the child's fretfulness, relieve its suffering and ensure convalescence.

Baby's Own Tablets are without an equal for relieving indigestion, constipation and colic. Unknown History Makers

Hundreds Whose Words Live, Have Always Been Nameless

There are hundreds of people whose names we do not know; though their words have passed into history. There is the nameless, well-dressed woman, who, meeting Wordsworth walking by Loch Kathrine one fine evening, observed, "What, you are stepping westward?" She gave the poet the idea for his poem, "Stepping Westward."

There is the watchman who passed under Peppy's window crying, "Past one of the clock, and a cold, frosty morning!"

There is the man who first invented the Breton fisherman's petition as he put out to sea, "Oh, God, do Thou help and guard me; the sea is so wide and my boat is so small!"

And who was the poor dame who, when questioned by a kindly bishop, held up her dry crust and said, "I have all this, and faith?"

And there are, of course, all the unknowns whose words are sung and said around the world and will not pass away.

There is nothing repulsive in Miller's Worm Powder, and they are as pleasant to take as sugar, so that few children will refuse them. In some cases they cause vomiting through their action in an unsoiled stomach, but this is only a manifestation of their cleansing power, no indication that they are hurtful. They can be thoroughly depended upon to clear worms from the system.

Women and Peace

Those millions of signatures taken to the naval conference in London, England, by the women of the world signifying their desire that war and vessels of war be abolished constitute a factor so momentous in world events that it cannot be slighted by the delegates who govern its deliberations. It long has been said that women usually get what they want. In this case it is a question of their getting the abolishment of something they do not want.

HE WENT ABOUT DOING GOOD

Golden Text: "Unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given; and the government shall be upon His shoulder; and His name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace."—Isaiah 9:6.

Devotional Reading: John 10:7-16.

A Summary Of Christ's Ministry

Perhaps this, on the whole is the best summary of our Lord's earthly ministry: He went about doing good. In the three years of His public ministry He was so busy that He had no time to take His food. Some great artists have almost fixed in our imagination the type of countenance which we now associate with Jesus; the central face of the Last Supper at Milan, for example, or Rembrandt's Jesus in the hundred guilder print, "Heavenly Sick," or Hoffman's Jesus in the Temple, that exquisite face. But we have no authentic face of Jesus, and probably all artists err in giving to Him a countenance too smooth and untroubled. His countenance must have borne the marks of anguish and care. For, as a man of genius said, almost two hundred years ago, "When Christ was only thirty-two, those who saw Him took Him to be a man of fifty." "Thou art not yet fifty" (John 8:57)—so much had life taken out of Him.

No great work is ever done easily. There were places where, we read, He could do no work because of something wanting in the circumstances, something wanting in the hearts of the people, wanting in the heart of the man for whom He was ready to do the great work. We read again that sometimes our Lord would groan in His spirit as though He were wrestling with some invisible force which was pitting itself against His power. Nothing was done easily that Jesus did. It wore Him out, so that again and again He retired to a mountain apart, there to lay open His soul to the energy of God.

He went about doing good. He looked about to do see where good might be done. We sometimes excuse ourselves because we think we have done all the good that is clamantly necessary in the little place where we stand.

He went about doing good by His lips, by His hands, by Himself. The biggest thing a man can do for his self or for the world is himself to be a good man and to give himself away for some great thought or dream of faith.—Condensed from an Address by John A. Hutten.

He went about, they said, in doing good:
To hearten: hope inspire; If they would.
He knew no creed, nor system, But to live
And to love: And to give service, And to give.
To give of cheer and faith, Was his appeal;
To hearten: hope inspire; The hurt to heal.
Give thou of life and love: Bid thou the test:
Altho' them that love and serve, To join the quest.

A Gateway To The North

Lakes and Waterways in the Alluring Hinterland That Lead to the Arctic Ocean

Prince Albert National Park in the province of Saskatchewan promises to become the most frequented gateway to the waters of that alluring hinterland of Canada as yet so little known. Beyond park boundaries, to the north, west, and east, lie a succession of lakes and waterways, extending like the links of a silver chain for literally hundreds of miles; on the northwest, finally reaching the waters of the Far North and the Arctic Ocean, and on the east, Hudson Bay.

SOLUTION MAY BE FOUND FOR NAVAL DEADLOCK

London, England.—That a way has been found to break the Franco-Italian deadlock over naval parity, a deadlock which threatened the very life of the five-power naval conference here, was indicated after a surprise meeting between Ramsay MacDonald, prime minister of Great Britain and Aristide Briand, foreign minister of France.

The two talked at French headquarters in the Hotel Carlton. Their conversation lasted two and a half hours, and after it M. Briand said: "We have been talking about means to bring the conference to a successful conclusion and we are going to apply those means as quickly as possible."

That the conference proved unexpectedly important was shown by the fact that Miss MacDonald had obviously been expecting a quick termination of the conversation, as she waited for her father in the lobby during the entire two hours and a half.

M. Briand was combed by a handful of newspapermen after the conference. He was as non-committal as usual about details, but was quite definite in saying that the situation had taken a new turn and that optimistic events were in the air.

"Always, when things seem at their worst, one finds a way out," he said. "That is true now."

He added his remark about applying means to make the conference successful.

Mr. MacDonald came from M. Briand's room with a smiling face and greeted his daughter in an unusually cheerful manner, but he declined to answer any questions.

The French leader in evading discussion of details, said: "I am in the habit of chattering too much and then I am reproached for it afterwards. We have been taking our bearings and experts have been making the observations precise." This remark served to bring out the fact that René Massigli, French naval technician, and R. L. Craigie, British naval expert, were present during part of the conversation.

M. Briand further conveyed the idea that his talk with Mr. MacDonald was concerned largely with practical figures instead of political aspects of the problem. Furthermore he said that besides conferring with M. Tardieu, in Paris, he is to see the foreign affairs committee of the French senate.

To Visit Canada

Train Of Fifty British Riflemen To Complete Here Next August

Ottawa, Ont.—A team of fifty English riflemen are expected to visit Canada this August to compete in the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association matches at Connaught ranges. The team will be composed of competitors at the Bisley meet who can arrange to take the trip to Canada at their own expense. At the last D.R.A. meet, a number of cadets from the English public schools, members of the Officers' Training Corps, competed in the matches. A similar representation from the O.T.C. is expected this year. These announcements were made at the annual meeting of the D.C.R.A. which opened here.

Airmen Reach Churchill

Vance and Blasdale Marooned In North Since Last October

Churchill, Man.—J. D. Vance, pilot for the Northern Aerial Explorations Limited, and his mechanic Blasdale, who were marooned in the far north many months ago, have reached Churchill. They mushed 500 miles from Baker Lake, aerial station, and were accompanied from Chesterfield Inlet by "Bob" Hicks, of the Northern Aerial Exploration Company. The airmen were guided by two Eskimos, and had a dog train of three teams.

Despite the arduous tramp to the Bay Port, the airmen and their companions were in excellent health. With train service suspended to Churchill for the winter, the men still have a "walk" of more than 100 miles to reach Mile 327 where they can board a train for The Pas.

Participating in the aerial search for Col. C. D. H. MacAlpine, president of the Dominion Explorers, Limited, and his seven companions who were lost in Canada's northern Arctic regions for nearly two months, Vance and his companion were forced out of the hunt last October. A mishap to their plane after the MacAlpine rescuers headed northwest, left them stranded at the isolated aerial post of Baker Lake.

Waiting favorable weather and trail conditions, the men suffered no hardship at the post, where there was a plentiful supply of provisions, and also a Hudson Bay trading post.

After an unsuccessful start in December, the airmen waited another month and on January 2, accompanied by Indian guides with dog teams, got going again, reaching Chesterfield Inlet 13 days later. After resting for a short time, they took to the trail that brought them to Churchill recently. In December the men were on the trail for two weeks, but fierce northern blizzards forced them to return to Baker Lake.

Vance, a veteran airman, is a resident of Toronto, while Blasdale, a youth of 21, is a Winnipeg boy, an experienced pilot and air engineer.

League Society Holds Its Annual Meeting

Membership Of Canadian Branch Has Been Increased

Ottawa.—Representatives of organizations interested in promoting international peace, from all parts of Canada, attended the eighth annual meeting of the League of Nations Society in Canada here. The annual report of the executive showed progress had been made during the past year in extending the activities of the society and increasing the membership.

Dr. H. M. Tory, president of the society, was in the chair and an address on the league was given by Miss Agnes MacPhail. Sir George E. Foster led a discussion of the annual report. He stressed the importance of popular education on the ideals of the league. This was perhaps more difficult in Canada, with its scattered population, than in other countries. But it indicated the need of a vigorous organization and a continuance of the work of the society.

Berlin Churches Attacked

Berlin.—Communists were charged recently with attacks on church edifices in Berlin during the night. A Protestant church in north Berlin had a large illuminated Bible text over the door smashed. India's Agitators Have Further Grievance

British Medical Council Refuses To Recognize University Degrees

New Delhi, India.—India's agitators have been given another opportunity to foster indignation against Britain by the curt refusal of the British Medical Council to recognize medical degrees of Indian universities. British medical authorities have long been dissatisfied with the training methods of certain universities in India.

Many efforts have been made to achieve a degree of training which will win the approval of the council and enable Indian doctors to practice in Great Britain. The latest proposal, accepted and sponsored by the Government of India, provided for the appointment of a medical commissioner to ensure uniform training throughout India. The Legislative Assembly, however, rejected the plan and not long after the assembly's action the medical council refused to recognize Indian degrees.

Passing Of Great Statesman

Tribute Is Paid To The Memory Of Lord Balfour

Woking, Surrey, England.—In a room of his brother's house, looking out to the peaceful English countryside he loved so much, Lord Balfour passed peacefully away.

He was a former prime minister of Great Britain and one of the last of the great Victorian statesmen. His last act was characteristic of his whole life.

Sending for his man-servant, James Colman, who had been in his service 30 years, Lord Balfour took him by the hand and said:

"Good-bye, James. Thank you very much for all you have done for me."

Lord Balfour was 82 years old. He was created an early and Viscount of Balfour in the Washington conference in 1921, and will be succeeded by his brother Gerald, in whose house he died.

The funeral was held at Lord Balfour's Scottish home at Whittingham.

Premier MacDonald, informed almost at once of the Earl's death, declared: "It is the end of a long, useful life, and the whole nation will unite in expressing its regret and in paying its tribute."

The Earl was 81 years old last July, and he played tennis right up to that birthday. A most notable characteristic was an almost unlimited capacity to remember. He frequently astonished friends with recollections of the most trivial incidents in his long career.

Winter Lures This Lady

Midwinter in the Metagama region with deep snow and sub-zero weather proved too great an attraction for Lady Kitty Ritson, daughter of the Earl of Airlie, to pass up and she took Canadian Pacific train from Montreal to get there. An outdoor sportswoman all her life, she here realized her desire to be attuned to the great solitude and the real nature. She fished through holes in the ice and picture shows what kind of sport she had. She mushed for miles through forest and plain behind her dog team and when the day was done she retired to rest in a log cabin made snug with stove against the bitter blasts. Her ladyship says that she prefers Canada in winter to summer and certainly her adventures seem to prove it.

CLOSER CHECK WILL BE KEPT ON IMMIGRATION

Ottawa.—The steps taken by the Dominion Government in inviting the provinces to assume a larger share of responsibility in immigration matters was laid before the House of Commons by Hon. Charles Stewart, acting minister of immigration.

He explained that his deputy was taking up the proposal with the individual provinces. The new plans were dependent on the House ratifying the agreements by which the provinces of the west get back the crown lands and other natural resources.

The statement of Mr. Stewart came during a debate on a resolution offered by T. E. Donnelly (Liberal, Willow Bunch), which it carried will place the House on record as opposed to any assisted immigration "except in so far as financial assistance is at present being extended to female domestics."

An amendment of D. F. Kellner (U.F.A., Athabasca) would have gone further; they are to sign contracts with other organizations bringing in immigrants deposit $1,000 with the province for each immigrant as a guarantee against becoming a public charge. It proposed also to discontinue assistance to female domestics. The amendment was declared out of order by Mr. Speaker Lemieux.

Replying to an interjection, Mr. Stewart stated that present agreements of the Dominion Government with transportation companies will expire on May 31st. These "transportation company agreements" would not be renewed and the companies had been notified to this effect, he said.

"Under the proposed agreement with the provinces," Mr. Stewart declared, "we are asking them to assume the responsibility for saying how many and what kind of immigrants they are desirous of having and can absorb in any given year. We will not pass into Canada people destined to any province unless it is the desire of that province to receive them."

"It is not the intention of this Government to prevent any individual in the British Isles or in northern Europe who is in a position to finance his passage and who has a reasonable sum of money in his possession to maintain himself when he arrives in this country from entering this country unless the provinces should say that they are not desirous of receiving such immigrants. Under such circumstances we should have to debit to that extent an individual entering into that province."

Mr. Stewart continued: "We are not thinking of continuing any assistance except that we have not yet arrived at a definite decision as to whether we should discontinue assistance to juveniles."

"That is the only case in regard to which we have not yet reached a definite decision."

The Dominion Government he went on, intended to continue to lend its auspices in the way of paying for the necessary number of officials to control immigration. "We must have officers at every port of entry into Canada," Mr. Stewart explained.

The minister could not conceive of any province "snatching the door" to immigration; but believed immigration would continue in accordance with the powers of absorption by the provinces.

Canada's Power System

Ottawa, Ont.—In 1928 Canada had 18 hydro-electric power systems distributed from coast to coast. These systems have an average annual output of 100,000,000 kilowatt hours or more. The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario had an output exceeding four billion kilowatt hours each. These 18 systems account for 92 per cent. of the total units generated in all central power systems of Canada.

Fifteen minutes car drive from the Empress Hotel, Victoria, is the only colony of skylarks on the continent of North America. The sweetest of a songsters of whom Canadian children read in all anthologies of British poetry, but which they have never seen or heard in actual life in their own country, as e in this one section of the Dominion, has been acclimated at Victoria successfully. They are to be found in considerable numbers among the oaks to the north of the city, on the slopes of Mt. Tolmie, at the Colwood Golf course, among the orchards of Gordon Head, in the deep meadows near Elk Lake, and from the flower-scented grounds of Butcher's Gardens. CHAPTER VI—Continued

"There's nothing to be scared of," declared Grandma, "unless it's Sarah Bennett. Like as not she'll discover something wrong about you. She says the Wickfield girls are all 'provincial.' Jim told me so himself. I looked in the dictionary and it said that provincial means countrified and rude. Well! If Charman looks countrified I wish you'd tell me so; but she's not rude. Her manners come from the Davises, and they all had a way with 'em even when they were poorer than Joe's turkey. Some day I'll tell Sarah Bennett what I think of her."

"I'll do it for you if ever I have the chance," replied the doctor with heart-warming sympathy. "And you needn't worry about your granddaughter. I assure you there's nothing provincial in her make-up."

"Well, you ought to know," responded Grandma, "coming from a big place like Boston. I guess my girl's all right even."

Charman had been an amused spectator of this scene, but now she interrupted with a laugh.

"Come, Grandma, you've talked me over thoroughly enough; and we must start along if I'm to be any use to Mrs. Merry. Your supper's all laid out on the kitchen table, and don't you dare to wash a single dish. Just leave them in the sink. I shan't be late; and if you need anything you can call up Doctor Howe, and he'll let me know."

"I shan't need anything," replied the old lady promptly. "You run along and have a real good time. And don't you be too snippy to Jim Bennett, either. He's a good-boy, and not entirely responsible for his own actions."

"Oh, I'll be good to him!" promised Charman, laughing; and Grandma leaned forward in her chair to watch the two young people start off in the direction of the old white church that faced the village green.

"Provincial!" she snorted angrily. It was plain to see that Sarah Bennett's comment was not to be treated lightly. "I don't believe it. I guess I know a country bumpkin when I see one, even if I haven't been out of Wickfield for five years. Charman's a sight more stylish, and stands up straighter than those fashion plates in the mall order catalogues from Chicago; and she never did a rude thing in her life. She's Luther Davis all over when it comes to manners. Why, she even thanks Tommy Gooey when he takes away the garbage, though goodness knows it's not a favor. He and that Mordrige boy had an awful fight one Saturday to see which would get it."

Grandma was so stirred up that an automobile passed without her seeing it as she went on indignantly: "And talk of hats! Why, Charman could trim one herself that would make that green mall-order hat that Sarah Bennett's making such a fuss about, look like the tail feathers to a rooster! There goes Sarah now. She's got on her brown taffeta, and if she helps in the kitchen like she usually does, it's liable to get spotted. I declare, I almost hope she spoils it!"

Suddenly Grandma laughed at herself, and relaxed a little.

"I'm afraid I'm getting real spiteful in my old age," she murmured. "I ought to be ashamed; but for Sarah Bennett to put on airs to a Davis, is a drop more'n I can swallow. There goes Emmey Bascorn and the twins. I wish Emmey'd stop and let me see her new shirtwaist; but I suppose she's in a hurry. She's waving, and so are the children. They look terribly cute in their new dresses, one pink—one blue, same as usual."

"Dear me! I don't see how anybody stands living on a side street where there's not much passing. I wish I had Charman put my supper on a tray in here. I don't want to miss anything while I'm eating. If only somebody'd stop in an errand I'd get 'em to fix it for me. There goes Gan Gardfield, and he's reading his paper and won't look up. Here comes an auto. I do believe it's Jimmy Bennett, and—"

Grandma rapped sharply on the window, and Jim, who was looking at the house almost against his will, saw her summons and stopped his car. She beckoned, and he came in asking:

"You want something, Grandma? I saw you wake."

"And it's lucky for me you did," smiled the old lady. "I want you should bring my supper in from the kitchen. Charman left it all set out on the table, but I don't want to miss the passing just as every one's going to the church. You take that big tin tray in the buttry, and put everything on it. The tea's in the teapot, and all you've got to do is to pour in some hot water from the kettle. I don't mind eating a little early, and maybe no one else would be coming by that I could see."

"You want it on the card table, Grandma?" asked Jim affably. "I'll move it over before I get the feast."

"That's right, sonny. It's plain to see you're handy about the house. There goes Lizzie Baker, hurrying as usual. For a wonder she hasn't got on her apron, but she's carrying it in her hand. It's real fun eating here by the window, Jimmy. Sort of like having a front seat at the opera."

Jim staided the little table, and peered for a moment into the quiet street.

WRIGLEY'S

Drowsiness is dangerous.

Wearily miles seem shorter and the day is brightened when you have Wrigley's with you. Its sugar pep you up. Its delicious flavor adds to any enjoyment.

A five cent package to safety insurance

"Can't say that I see any—well, similarity," he remarked. "I guess Charman gets some of her ideas from you, Grandma. She's forever seeing things that I can't see at all. Is that table in the right place? Now I'll go after the grub."

"Be sure you don't forget the tea," called the old lady as he moved away. Jim turned, his face suddenly gloomy.

"Forgetting's not one of my habits, Grandma Davis," he said soberly. "There are times when I wish to blunder it was."

He was gone before Grandma could reply, but she closed her eyes a moment in an effort to get his meaning. When she opened them the Merry's Spitz dog, Gypsy, was trotting along the sidewalk opposite carrying a huge ham bone, and in watching him hunt a place to bury it, Grandma forgot her helper till he appeared, bearing a well-loaded tray.

"He's buried it under Lizzie Baker's lilac bush!" she exclaimed excitedly.

"I declare, he's smart as a human being. Probably he's saving 'it' for a rainy day. He's gone off toward the church again, thinking to get some more scraps most likely."

"Scraps?" echoed Jim, puzzled, as he laid down his burden. "Who are you talking about? What's been buried under Miss Lizzie's lilac? You sound like an adventure story, Grandma—pirates, you know, burying pieces of eight."

Grandma chuckled.

"It was a treasure all right, to him, Jimmy. I'm talking about the Merry's Gypsy. There's not a cuter dog in town, and if you ask me, I'll say he knows a sight more than some of the Wickfield voters do. What's all this stuff for, sonny? I don't need two forks or—"

"Maybe not," replied Jim, a twinkle appearing in his brown eyes, "but I'm a conscientious objector on the subject of eating with my fingers—that is, when it can be avoided. There's plenty here for two, and—"

"You going to stay?" broke in Grandma, beaming.

"I thought if I hinted plain enough that perhaps you'd do the rest," grinned Jim; and with a flourish he set a small, round shortcake in the centre of the table.

CHAPTER VII

"Well," exclaimed Grandma, as her self-invited guest drew up a chair and proceeded to pour the tea, "that is real cozy! It's not often that I have company when Charman's away. She'll be surprised enough when I tell her I had the handsomest young man in town to supper with me. Give me a drop more cream, Jimmy. This tea's so hot I can't drink it. Maybe you'd have had a better supper at the church; but you can console yourself remembering that it's a kind deed to keep an old woman company."

"I didn't hint for that invitation in order to do any kind deed," replied Jim amiably, "but because I wanted to stay. You don't seem old to me, Grandma. Some ways you seem younger than Charman."

To his surprise Grandma's face sobered.

"Sometimes I think I feel younger," she admitted. "Charman's got too much responsibility on her shoulders—has had, ever since she was born. One thing, she works too hard; and there are times when she gets discouraged though she doesn't say so. The Davises never were folks to whine about things. They take life as it comes and make the best of it. I've sometimes thought that if Charman only had the chance she'd be a poet, like her grandfather. When she was a little girl she wrote some real pretty verses about the first violet. But she's never had time to give to it as her grandpa had."

As he looked up at an ugly crack in the ceiling, it struck this practical young man that if Grandma Davis had given more time to the farm and less to poetry, his granddaughter wouldn't have to worry about finances. Not wishing to voice this thought he took a mouthful of bread and butter that made speech impossible; while Grandma, turning toward the window, said:

"There goes those summer folks from over South Wickfield way! Do you suppose they're going to the church? Last time they came the woman gave two dollars for a loaf of Emmy's spice cake, though all they were asking for it was one-fifty. She wouldn't take the change; and she bought all Charman's fudge and your mother's ginger cookies. It's a wonder her folks weren't sick with all that sweet stuff in the house at once. Is it true that they're going to set off fireworks on the common after supper? Mrs. Merry told us they were thinking of it. I'd admire to see 'em. I've never seen all the fireworks I'd like to see."

Mr and Mrs Rudolf Hoffman were in Stony Plain this week, on a motor trip, giving instructions to Mr Peters, of the A-P elevator, as to the disposal of the grain which they had in storage here. They said they liked their new home, three miles from Wetaskiwin, so well they didn't wish to tarry long in Stony, so they left here before the hour was up. Rudolf claims he has made a good buy at his new location, as he has already been offered a bonus of $4000 on his purchase.

Duffield Doings.

The death occurred in Edmonton last week of Henry Landsman, following an operation for goitre. Deceased was in his 57th year, and had been a long time resident of Mewassin district before moving to Duffield about four years ago. He had been driving on the rural mail service for some time. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, one daughter Ellen, at home; 2 sons, Henry at Carvel; Norman, at Mewassin. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon, from the family residence. Rev A Elliot, pastor of the Anglican church at Wabamun, conducted the service at the house and at the graveside. Interment took place in Duffield Cemetery.

Twenty dollars, which will go to the building fund of the new church, was raised at the recent entertainment given at the home of Mr M J O'Sullivan by the ladies of St Dominic's church.

Card of Thanks.

Mrs Henry Landsman Sr. and Family wish to thank their many friends for the beautiful flowers the kindness and sympathy shown them during their recent sad bereavement.

Monday's Liberal Meeting

The meeting of Liberals in Stony Plain on Monday was quite a success. Mr George J Bryan was in the chair, Pres Francey being detained thru illness.

Mr W Howson was the first speaker up, and he handled the Brownlee government without gloves. The speaker showed how, altho the province's indebtedness is mounting high, so little progress has been made in any of the governmental departments. And this in spite of the fact that the province's indebtedness has increased by 60 millions in eight years.

In dealing next with the Dept. of Education, the speaker showed that in the 8 years the Hon Perren Baker had been in charge, he has drawn $60,000 in salary, not including expenses; and all he has to show for it is a School Act which is not acceptable to teachers, has been repudiated by Alberta Trustees Ass'n by a vote of 700 to 35, and is not acceptable to the Convention of Councillors of Alberta Municipalities.

In dealing with the Dept. of Agriculture, under Mr Hoadley, Mr Howson showed where not a single change had been made in the policy of the department since the Liberals went out of power in 1921. All the big improvements in this department, promised by Hon Mr Hoadley failed to materialize.

In dealing with the Dept. of the Provincial Treasurer, the speaker told the humorous incident of Mr Reid being unable to sell a bond to the Tory leader without getting the O.K. of the Premier to it.

At the close of his speech, Mr Howson was accorded a vote of thanks.

The election of delegates to the provincial convention at Calgary resulted as follows: Geo J Bryan, D Brox, O G Wudel, Dr Oatway, O J Olsen, Ludwig Goebel, J Armbruster, Geo Akin, Mr and Mrs M McKinlay, F J Francey, J Schulz.

Holborn Dairy Pool Local.

A meeting of Holborn Dairy Pool local was held on the 21st, with a record attendance. Business consisted of a report from Delegate R Larson, who had attended the annual convention at Edmonton, which was favorably received.

An outline of the year's development and expansion was given by officials of the Executive, and showed a year of progress.

The officers for the ensuing year were then elected, as follows—Pres., H J Woodley; V-Pres., W T Propp; Sec., H J McDonald.

Holborn Happenings.

The meeting of the Wheat Pool Local billed to be held at the Hall tomorrow (Friday) night has been postponed, owing to Mr Mackenzie being unable to be present.

A special meeting of Holborn U. F. A. Local will be held Friday, 28th.

Here and There

It is to be leaving on S.S. Metropolis, with his niece, Miss Helen MacKenzie, who is to be married in London next month. His Honor R. Randolph Bruce, Lieutenant Governor of British Columbia, attended the official opening of the New Brunswick provincial legislature in his trip by Canadian Pacific across the Dominion. Mr. Bruce called on every Lieutenant Governor in Canada.

Captain A. J. Hoskin, R.N., skipper of Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia, was recently winner for the second time in succession of the "Broadway" contest of the E. W. Healey shield for safety and efficiency. The shield was donated in 1925 by the chairman and president of the railway for competition among company ships of the Pacific coast.

First week in March witnessed the addition of Alberta and Saskatchewan to the Canadian Pacific Railway's broadcasting chain which now covers Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Fleming, for Saskatchewan and Calgary for Alberta. The "Broadway" and sea chanteys and songs from ballads gathered together with the orchestral pieces are put on the air every Friday night between 10 and 11 Eastern time.

In Ottawa electricity for domestic use is cheaper than anywhere else on the continent. Not in the world, according to authorities on the subject. It is sold at a rate that averages less than one cent per kilowatt-hour which means that the average bill for electric light incurred by citizens of the Canadian Capital is about $1 per month.

At the World's Poultry Congress to be held at the Crystal Palace, London, England, next July, Canada will be a conspicuous participant. The Canadian exhibit of live birds will total about 1,000. The last World's Congress was held in Ottawa in 1927.

One of the largest real estate transactions of modern times will be put through at the present session of the Canadian Federal Parliament, when legislation will be submitted to enable the Government to land over millions of acres of land, a substantial amount of water power, vast forest wealth and other natural resources to the provinces of Manitoba, Alberta and British Columbia.

The music, songs and dances of Latin, Celt, Scandinavian, Slav, Teuton and British will all be represented for Canadians this month when on March 19-22, the third Great West Canadian Folk Dance, Folk Song and Handicrafts festival will be held under the auspices of the Canadian Pacific Railway at the Palliser Hotel in Calgary.

Unusually heavy pre-Lenten weddings were indicated this month from the Windsor street station, Montreal, when 25 blushing honeymooners left that city for Ottawa, Quebec and New York on one morning. Station officials say that this is very heavy for the time of year and comes close to the number leaving the station on mornings of Cupid's special month of June.
